As a student working on her Juris Doctorate at Washburn University, Ms. Bohn served as a member and research editor of the Washburn Law Journal. Upon completion of her law degree, she gained invaluable experience as a business transaction attorney with Koch Industries, Inc. as in-house counsel representing multiple Koch subsidiaries in divisions and transactional matters, including natural gas marketing and transportation regulation, acquisitions and divestitures, and international transactions. This experience has prepared her to represent Hinkle Law Firm LLC and its clients in matters related to corporate transactions and contracts.

Donna also assists clients with medical and elder law planning, business entity formation, structuring equity agreements, and split dollar life insurance planning.
